RUSSIA AND U.S. from Page One

negotiations with the Arabs on a permanent settlement.

The Soviet approach, announced last week, calls for disarmament in the Middle East accompanied by Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories.

A communique on Nasser's talks in Moscow indicated disagreement on Arab policy toward Israel but did not specify in what areas. It said Soviet military aid to Egypt will continue.

Diplomats in Belgrade considered the Nasser-Tito conversations as important in making up Nasser's mind on what was described as Soviet pressure for a more flexible Arab policy. The sources said Nasser will reply to Moscow's proposals after returning to Cairo. Tito fully supports the Arab side, but wants a political rather than military solution to the stalemate.

In London, aides said British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, in talks with Ball, would urge the United States to press on Israel a course of action calling for considerable concessions to the Arabs: abandonment of Israeli insistence on direct negotiations with the Arabs; a retreat from Israeli insistence on the passage of Israeli ships through the Suez Canal; a series of piecemeal agreements on such matters as Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory, refugee resettlement and border security. Israeli claims on the whole of Jerusalem, regarded as the most difficult single problem, would be tackled last.

A Kosygin-Jarring meeting in Stockholm has not been publicly announced and would not be part of Kosygin's official activities during his 2½-day visit to the Swedish capital, but the meeting is considered a certainty.

The official portion of Kosygin's visit was viewed in Moscow as a friendly social call without much policy significance.

Mrs. Melton was in charge as guest consultant. She is Coordinator of Evaluation for the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service at the Children's Colony in Conway. The theme of the workshop was, "Readiness for Formal Schooling."

Mrs. Melton was brought to Hope as a service of the Southwest Arkansas Diagnostic and Remedial Service Center, directed by Dr. Faye Smith of Magnolia.

Members of the staff of the Service Center who contributed to the program were: Dr. Larry Roberts, psychologist; Dr. Gary Standridge, psychologist; David Christman, social worker; Conway McDaniel, educational consultant and Mrs. Dean Parker, nurse.

Kidnaper Is Found to Be a Suicide

MARYSVILLE, Calif. (AP) —

A Marine sought since the kidnapping of a 2-year-old girl roamed on foot for a day after the child was returned unharmed and then killed himself, sheriff's officers say.

Thomas Scholfield, 22, came back to Marysville during the search and shot himself in the heart Wednesday with a .22-caliber pistol, Sgt. Dennis More said.

Scholfield and his wife Loreta, 20, left Monday with the child, Vicky West, telling Vicky's mother that he wanted to flee the country, sheriff's deputies said. Scholfield had been absent without leave from the Marines.

Scholfield had tied up Vicky's mother, Helen West, 24, Mrs. West's brother-in-law, Michael West, 16, and her other daughter, Jamie, 5, officers said. They freed themselves and notified authorities.

Twelve hours later, Mrs. Scholfield returned with the child described as hungry but unharmed.

Her husband left their car and told her to return the child, Mrs. Scholfield told Mrs. West.

The Marine's wife was arraigned on charges of kidnapping, armed robbery and auto theft. A hearing is set for July 17.

Obituaries

JEROME, Idaho (AP) — Vardis Fisher, 73, author best known for his books on life in the early American West, died Tuesday night. Among his works was "Children of God," a history of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

CHICAGO (AP) — Louis Saxton, 68, financial editor of Chicago's American, died Wednesday after suffering a heart attack while on a fishing trip in Canada. Saxton had worked briefly for the old International News Service.

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP) — Marion Elizabeth Diagg, 73, who had taught music for half a century in public schools, colleges and universities, died late Tuesday. Miss Diagg, of Dallas, Tex., was serving as a guest professor at St. Leo College near Dade City.

SOUTH ROYALSTON, Mass. (AP) — George Mallinckrodt, 48, president of the Paradyamics Division of Mallinckrodt Corp., one of the nation's largest chemical firms, died Wednesday in an explosion which blew up a light plane he was flying. Donna Oppenheimer, 23, of San Diego, also was killed. Mallinckrodt was a grandson of the founder of the St. Louis-based firm.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Ted Boswell, a Democratic candidate for governor, said Wednesday he had run out of money to pay for billboard advertising.

Boswell made the remark in a conversation with a supporter at Texarkana during a handshaking tour of Southwest Arkansas.

Later, while meeting the voters on the streets at Hope, Boswell said: "Everywhere I look, I see Crank and Whitbeck billboards, but I know I'm seeing more people. I know I am."

Boswell told a reception at Texarkana that he had been accused of running on the issue of a constitutional convention, but he said he didn't think the calling of a constitutional convention should depend on his candidacy.

He also said some other gubernatorial candidates had gotten "very gusty" on the mixed drink issue since he first took a stand on it, but that they were saying "leave it to the people."

"This is the delegate concept of government," the Bryant lawyer said. "There's no leadership value in it whatsoever."

Boswell also touched on the race issue.

"I don't want to study the Negro," he said. "I don't want to experiment with the Negro. I don't want to window dress with the Negro. I want to give him the same equal opportunity that I have. And I've found that's all the Negro wants."

Crop Crisis Reported at Tucker

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — John Price, associate superintendent at Cummins Prison Farm, said Wednesday that the crop situation at the prison is crucial at this point.

Price told members of the Board of Correction meeting here that of particular concern is the prison's cucumber crop. Price told the board that failure to pick the cucumbers at the proper time could cost the prison $1,500 in crop losses each day.

Price said, however, that a greater effort will be made to get more prisoners working in the fields. He said 404 of the 1,140 Cummins inmates are assigned to field work, and Price said this total is 57 higher than the total was a few days ago.

When the board met earlier in the day at Tucker Prison Farm, Bill Stewart, farm supervisor for the prisons, said that about $50,000 worth of farm equipment ordered three months ago still hasn't arrived.

"I'm surprised that this hasn't already been delivered," said John Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the board.

Marshall Rush of Pine Bluff, a board member who charged last week that failure of prompt delivery of the equipment could jeopardize the crop at the prisons this year, said, "I'm not surprised, but I was disappointed."

A spokesman for the State Administration Department had said that because the prison was operating on borrowed funds, a department representative and a prison official had decided the purchase could wait. The department said later, however, that the order had been placed and would be delivered soon.

A Cummins prison Supt. Victor Urban told the board that Bill McClendon of the SAD had advised him that prison officials would need to work with the SAD in devising a new budget for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Urban said the budget would be based on anticipated income and the appropriation provided for the prison system by the special legislative session in May.

The appropriation that transferred $700,000 from the governor's contingency fund and authorized the prison to spend for operations $226,000 which had been earmarked for construction, was less than the $1.9 million requested by the board.

The board also adopted an insurance program for the two prison farms at a cost of $12,000, about $9,000 less than provided by the May session of the legislature.

The program will include insurance for fire, wind and storm damage and includes insurance on motor vehicles, farm buildings and the prison barracks.

Hawkins in Attack on Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins went on television here Wednesday night to "give his side of the story" and he said he never would have been involved in all the litigation and controversy if he had agreed to support Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Hawkins, a Democrat and long-time political foe of the governor, said that more than $300,000 had been spent in harassing him.

He said that state Welfare Director Len Blaylock had visited him in 1966 and promised to cancel the taxpayers' suit against him if he would "go fishing" on election day so Rockefeller could carry Conway County.

Hawkins said he rejected the offer and he said the same offer was made later by Lonzo Ross, a Conway lawyer.

Blaylock denied the charge Wednesday night. Blaylock said he visited Hawkins and other political leaders as the GOP field man in the region, but that the suit was not mentioned.

"It's ridiculous to think I would have any authority to throw out a court suit," Blaylock said.

Hawkins also said that all of his troubles could be traced to former Morrilton newspaperman Gene Wirges' inability to pay his debts.

"He fell on this crusade scheme to bail him out of his difficulties," Hawkins said. Hawkins said he and Wirges had a good relationship for several years. He said the trouble began when Firger filed a false claim for legal advertising.

IRS Moves in on Dope Arrests

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday it was planning to take steps to assess a marijuana transfer tax against six persons who were arrested Tuesday night on charges of possessing marijuana.

The IRS said the tax would be about $4,500. The marijuana transfer tax is about $100 an ounce.

The six defendants, whose cases were passed until July 31 in Little Rock Municipal Court Wednesday, were identified as Judy White Johnson, 22; Barbara Jan Moore, 20; Linda Lorraine Arthur, 24; Wellington Hamilton Lemmers, 21; William Thomas Taylor Jr., 21, and Robert A. Hutton, 20.

Hutton is of Jacksonville, Fla.

The honored couple chose this time to present gifts to members of their wedding party.

Television and Radio

By ROBERT D. KASMIRE
EDITOR'S NOTE—Robert D. Kasmire, NBC vice president for corporate information, di- rects among other things, the network's Department of Stand- ards and Practices which cen- sors its own programs. Amidall of the current criticism, he tells of efforts to keep action, words and subject matter within bounds.

NEW YORK (AP) — You, like me, watch a considerable amount of television entertain- ment and are alternately pleased, disappointed, amused, enlightened, bored, enthralled or outraged by what you see or hear.

One difference between us is that I, or a member of my staff, could have kept material that bothered you off the air in the first place.

So let's change places for a minute.

Would you accept the critical- ly favored feature film "A Man And a Woman" for broadcast in prime time? We didn't because of the quite explicit sex ac- depicted in the final scenes, among other things.

Or this in a popular Western series? Two of the continuing characters are tied up by two heavies, who then throw hatch- ets at them to see how close they can come. That came out, and I'm not going to explain why.

And what about a sequence in which a comedienne, asked why she was voted "Miss Planned Parenthood," replies, "Oh, I've got rhythm." Big reaction from audience and questioner, and she adds, "No, that's what I sang." We thought it was just a risque gag, with no satirical thrust, and you didn't see it. You may not agree with all of those judgments, or with many of the dozens made daily by net- work programmers and the peo- ple called "network censors." But opinion is never unanimous, on either side.

Is television becoming more permissive in its standards of acceptance? I think the answer is that it is maturing, and it should be. But it shouldn't, and it won't, abandon its commit- ment to good taste, popular ac- ceptance and intelligent re- straint.

"Golly!" said East. "You wouldn't think anyone could make a slam against my hand."

"Blank, blank, blank!" said West. "They might well have gone down if you hadn't dou- bled."

We feel sorry for East and even sorer for West. It is really bad luck to lose 2,020 points with as good a hand as East held. On the other hand, he had contributed at least 590 points to the loss when he doubled.

South's failure to use Black- wood should have told East that South was void of some suit and common sense should have told him that the void would be hearts. North had bid two hearts and East had five of them.

South ruffed the heart lead, cashed the black aces, led his nine of spades to dummy's 10 and thought things over. Should he take a club finesse? Without the double, he might well have done so.

Based on the double, South assumed that he would find East with the ace of dia- monds. In that case, if East also held the queen, it would be better technique to try to ruff out the clubs. He led a club to his king and ruffed a club in dummy. Then he led a diamond from dummy. East played low and South finessed his jack. Since clubs had broken 4-2, he needed to find both the ace and queen of diamonds in the East hand.

He ruffed another club to establish his jack and led dummy's last diamond. East took his ace and South took the rest of the tricks, game, slam, rubber and everything else that wasn't nailed down. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

British Open Target of U.S. Pair

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Writer
CARNOSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the two richest professionals in the golf world, set out today in the second round of the British Open Championship determined to win.

Why?

Said Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa.: "The gremlins seem to be against me, but when the day comes that I don't want to win, that's the day I quit."

Said Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, "I am playing from tee to green better than ever in my life. But I cannot see to get a putt up to the hole, golf here is different and you have to cope with it."

Palmer, with a 77 and Nicklaus with a 76 in the first round over Carnoustie's 7,252-yard par 72 course, hardly appeared to be immediate major threats for the 1968 title.

Nor did Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina, the defending champion. He, too, had a 77.

The leaders after the first of four 18-hole rounds were British amateur Michael Bonallack and English professional Brian Barnes, each at 70.

At 71 were two more Englishmen, Peter Mills and Maurice Bembridge, and at par 72 were Billy Casper, of San Diego, Calif., along with Tony Jacklin of England, left hander Bob Charles of New Zealand and Paddy Skerritt of Ireland.

Scores among the 130 competitors shot all the way up to the eighties as the weather grew cold.

Harry Stuhldreher, Don Miller, Elmer Layden and Jim Crowley were the famous "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame.

Champion's Pal Takes Away Lead

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An eager gallery followed defending champ Vern Callison through the first round of the National Public Links Golf Tournament hoping to see a pace-setting performance, and they did—but it was Callison's playing mate Don Maddox who set the pace.

Maddox, 24, a computer operator from Wichita, Kan., finished with a 71 Wednesday to push himself into a three-way tie with Les Matlocks, Greeley, Colo., and Tom Evans of Dallas for the first round lead.

The three front-runners were one over par over the tricky par 70, 6,578-yard Tenison East Course, which had its rough trimmed to three inches prior to the tournament because United States Golf Association officials felt the course was unfair.

Paul Langager, 23, former quarterback at the University of Utah, fired a two-over par 72 for fourth place.

Robert Unger, Milwaukee, Wis., and George Yamamoto of Anahola, Kauai, Hawaii, each finished at 73 in a tie for fifth place.

The Dallas team of Evans, Gene Towry and Arnold Salinas, combined their scores to take an eight shot lead over Memphis, Tenn., in the team competition.

Dallas had a 219 total to Memphis' 227 in the 36 hole team event.

Earl Weaver New Manager of Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Earl Weaver, minor league player and manager throughout his baseball career, was named today to replace Hank Bauer as manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

Selection of the 38-year-old Weaver, a coach brought up as a manager at Rochester to be a coach this season, was announced at a news conference the day after Bauer was summarily dismissed.

Bauer had been voted best manager of the year twice in his four full seasons at the helm of the Orioles. The second time was after the Orioles won their first American League pennant in 1966 and beat the Los Angeles Dodgers four straight in the World Series.

Weaver was one of three new coaches named by the Orioles last season when the team finished sixth.

The Orioles currently are in third place with a 43-37 record, but trail leading Detroit by 10½ games.

Bauer, twice voted Manager of the Year by The Associated Press, was informed of his discharge in Kansas during the All-Star break. Harry Dalton, Oriole director of player personnel, carried the news.

"Hank Bauer has been relieved of his duties as manager of the Orioles," read the announcement issued in Baltimore. "Dalton also announced that Bauer's contract would be honored through the 1968 season."

Dalton added that Bauer would be paid the balance of his contract for $50,000 a year which had been due to expire at the end of the season.

"It wasn't much of a surprise," said the 46-year-old Bauer. "Somebody had to take the blame and I'm the guy. Our pitching has been good, but the hitting has been bad."

Last season, the troubles were reversed with the pitching faltering off since the Orioles swept four straight games from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 1966 World Series.

The Oriole team batting average currently is .218.

Majors to Use Split Schedules

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — For the time being, at least, major league baseball has set its house in order. How long the order remains is quite another question.

Meetings of the National and American leagues Wednesday led to the adoption of a two-divisional split of the NL's 12 teams in 1969 and agreement by the AL to increase its schedule from the previously agreed 156 games to 162.

That means both leagues will operate with two six-team divisions with a best-of-five playoff between division champions determining the World Series opponents.

Originally, the Nationals, who move into Montreal and San Diego next year, had voted to stay with a single 12-team league playing 162 games next year. Meanwhile, the Americans, adding Kansas City and Seattle, agreed to two divisions of six and 156-game schedule.

Commissioner William D. Eckert and baseball's executive council, recognizing the chaos two separate systems could create in the sport, urged the Nationals to reconsider. They agreed to split providing the Americans would revert to the 162-game schedule.

The AL went along and the Nationals announced the following divisions for 1969:

New York San Francisco
Montreal Los Angeles
Philadelphia San Diego
Chicago Cincinnati
St. Louis Atlanta

Earlier, the Americans had split this way:

Minnesota Cleveland
Chicago New York
Oakland Detroit
Kansas City Baltimore
Seattle Boston
California Washington

The plan calls for teams in the same division to play each other 18 times—nine at home and nine away—while meeting clubs in the other division 12 times—six at home and six on the road.

Naturally, this eliminates choice attractions for certain clubs and it was this problem that caused the most trouble Wednesday.

Once the Nationals reached their decision, they presented it to the AL at a joint session that lasted scarcely five minutes. Now baseball was ready to present its united front.

"This is a great step forward," said Commissioner Eckert, "showing cooperation and uniformity."

But wait a minute. Here was Chicago White Sox owner Arthur W. J. Healy, who had been outside the press conference, preparing a little bombshell of his own.

"The White Sox," said Allyn "are unhappy both with the American League divisional arrangement and the decision to return to 162 games. We will appeal to the commissioner."

Then there are the players to worry about.

The executive board of the Major League Players Association

NANCY Richey, a smashing tennis player, demonstrates in competition how to deliver a smash shot.

tion adopted a resolution Tuesday suggesting the return to "the more normal and manageable season that prevailed before the 1961 expansion." Prior to expansion, teams played 154-game schedules.

"Although the American League's proposal of a 156-game schedule is not ideal," the resolution continued, "it is clearly superior to any plan which contemplates an increase in the number of games to be played."

Golf Pros Gather at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Men's professional golf returned to Milwaukee today after a seven-year absence as 143 pros and one amateur were set to tee off in the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Both par 72, and the course record were shaken during Wednesday's pro-amateur event, and when the play begins in earnest, they are expected to be shattered. Four pros tied the record 69 for the two-year-old North Shore County Club course and 19 more broke par.

Steve Opperman teamed with two Wisconsin amateurs to win the event with a best ball 60.

"The long ball hitters have a definite advantage here," said Tom Weiskopf, second leading money winner on the PGA tour. "And it's important that shots are kept high in the air."

"Of course, if strong winds come up, the story could be different, but I look for the winner to cut about 10 strokes off par for the 72 holes."

Weiskopf, who won last week's Buick Open, is considered one of the longest hitters on the tour. He and U.S. Open winner Lee Trevino were the pretournament favorites.

Travelers Beat Out Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Arkansas' Gary Stone singled in two runs in the top of the ninth Wednesday night to give the Travelers a 5-4 victory over Albuquerque in the Texas League.

The Dodgers have now lost 11 of their last 15 games and have skidded from atop the Western Division to trail leader El Paso by 2½ games.

Albuquerque jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and increased it to 4-1 after the sixth.

The Travelers picked up two runs in the seventh with the help of two Albuquerque errors.

Arkansas then added the two runs in the ninth and put down umpire and brandishing the ball in his bare hand as proof of his catch. All four runners scored.

Then there was the incident when Roberto Clemente was trapped off third base. A Pirate batter had bounced one to a rookie Cub pitcher. The pitcher turned toward third.

Clemente was halfway toward home; he just stood there, apparently giving up. The pitcher warily walked toward him. Clemente took a few reluctant steps toward third. The pitcher moved closer to Clemente. Clemente eased closer to the bag. The pitcher lunged to tag Clemente. Clemente dived, safely clutching third base.

The pitcher's name slips this writer's mind. It must often slip the pitcher's mind, too.

All-Star Grid Game May Be Out

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The possibility that the College All-Star Game in Chicago Aug. 2 may become an early casualty of the hassle between National Football League owners and players was a step nearer reality today.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of Green Bay's champions, followed an order handed down by the owners earlier this week and politely ejected star quarterback Bart Starr and 10 other veterans from the Packers' training camp Wednesday.

Even if a settlement is reached in the dispute that threatens a suspension of NFL activity for the 1968 season—and there were no indications of this—it may not come in time to save the All-Star match.

Lombardi has insisted he won't send the Packers against the collegians in the game just a little more than three weeks away unless he can field a well-conditioned and representative team.

Starrs & Co. weren't the only ones with rejection complexes. Quarterback Roman Gabriel and Pat Studditt, former Detroit Lion, were told to leave when they tried to check in with 13 rookies at the Los Angeles Rams' camp at Fullerton, Calif.

And Dallas Cowboy vets reportedly planned to set up their own training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., in an effort to get around the owners' decision that all veterans will be barred from regular training sessions until the controversy is settled.

Dave Manders, player representative of the Cowboys, was quoted as saying the oldtimers had decided to hold their own camp, minus coaches, because "There's too much at stake. We're going for the title."

Meanwhile, things were rosy in the American Football League, where players and owners announced an agreement Wednesday on a new two-year contract providing increases in player pensions, insurance and in exhibition game pay.

Jack Kemp, of Buffalo, president of the AFL Players Association, termed the contract historic and a "tremendous step forward."

Under the new pact, a five-year player at age 35 would receive $689 a month instead of $500, a 10-year player would get $1,132 instead of $775 and a 15-year man would receive $1,497 instead of $990.

Exhibition game pay was boosted from $100 per game for each player to $125 for a two-year man, $150 for third and fourth-year players and $250 for a player with five or more years in the league.

Medical coverage for each active player in the league was increased from $15,000 to $50,000.

Reports that the NFL owners were planning further negotiations with the players were quickly dismissed by NFL President Art Modell, also president of the Cleveland Browns.

There also was a report that the players planned another vote on the matter. But Dave Manders, player representative of the Dallas Cowboys, reported Detroit's John Gordy, president of the NFL Players Association, said no further polls would be taken until the owners come up with a better offer.

Blue Devils Have to Replace Star

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke University's football fortunes this year will ride on the abilities of three untested rising sophomores at quarterback now that senior Al Woodall has been suspended for cheating.

Woodall, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder from Erwin, N.C., was convicted of allowing a coed to write a term paper for him—a charge he denied. He was to captain this year's Blue Devil team.

Duke Coach Tom Harp expressed regret at losing Woodall.

"During spring practice our basic offense was built around his ability to throw the ball," Harp said. "His loss dealt us a very severe blow at the most important position, but we will make the necessary adjustments."

Now, Harp expects to look for a quarterback among three sophomores—Dave Trice, who was held out last year, Leo Hart and Randy Short.

Harp says of the trio, "They are all good, young men. One of them will have to do the job."

Duke had a 4-6 record last year.

Woodall announced his suspension Wednesday. He said he was given a "raw deal" from the faculty-student hearing board that considered his case through two appeals and had decided to play this fall with the semipro Richmond Roadrunners of the Atlantic Coast Football League, a farm of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Thirteen Duke students have been suspended and a few others have appealed convictions as a result of the cheating investigation.

The Charlotte Observer said that at least eight Duke football players were among those suspended. It named only Woodall and halfback Pete Schafer, but said four would have been starters in the fall.

A Duke spokesman, stressing that university policy was not to announce names of students involved in such cases, said that all eight had not been suspended, but that disciplinary action was pending against some.

'Lazy-bones' Seeks a Title

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If Simmerl doesn't stop and roll over for a snooze on the way to the finish line, he has a good chance of becoming the first German-bred horse to win the $100,000 Roosevelt Raceway International trotting races scheduled for July 18.

At this writing, there is some question when the race will come off since a strike by horsemen over purses has bogged racing at Roosevelt. It hardly matters to Simmerl when the race is held, however. His training is the same under all circumstances—practically nothing.

The 8-year-old stallion, German champ for the past two seasons, is "trained" and driven by Rolf Luff. "I live and train in Munich," said Luff, "and between races Simmerl goes to the farm of his owner in Grossenpinnering in the Tyrol, about 100 miles from Munich."

"They never train Simmerl. Every day they take him for a three-hour walk through the woods. The rest of the day he spends in the paddock with a milk cow and a donkey. That's all. On race days they bring him to Munich and I have only to drive. I never give him warmup heats. This is unusual, but it works perfectly with Simmerl."

It works so well, in fact, that the lazy rogue has won 38 of 78 career races and earned 302,670 Deutschmarks ($75,467) in six seasons.

If he expects to win the International, he will have to leave his pillow in his Deutschland paddock. Roquepine, the great French mare, will be seeking an unprecedented second straight International championship. Seven other countries will be represented in the mile-and-a-quarter classic.

A German representative has never won the International. Three have tried: Ivacourt in 1959 (he finished fifth); Eidelstedter in 1962 (fourth) and Pickwick in 1964 and 1966 (he was third and fifth).

Conveniently, Simmerl couldn't train at the Grossenpinnering even if he had the inclination. There is no track on the farm or anywhere in the Lower Bavarian village. Every so often, though, he is given a bit of a workout prior to a race.

Before his first race this year, Simmerl drilled three kilometers at Munich. That's like a Channel swimmer training by floating in a bathtub. And Simmerl won the race.

He may have more energy than some give him credit for.

Cubs Back in Woods

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

CHICAGO — (NEA) — The Chicago Cubs, it dramatically has been proved again, have a penchant for the spectacular, the incredible, the inferior.

Recently, the Cubs accomplished a unique feat in the National League, and equaled only once in major league history. They flustered through 48 innings without scoring a run. Only the 1906 Philadelphia Athletics could boast of such utter incompetence.

The Cubbies—as the beloved are known to their minions—are wallowing near the bottom of the N.L. standings. A position that, except for an unaccountable flight of fancy last season, they have maintained for the last 22 years.

Somehow, the Cubs in 1967 discovered, however briefly, what is meant by hitting and pitching and fielding and running bases. They finished third, 14 games behind pennant-winning St. Louis. They even were in first place as late as July 24. And before this season, some wild-eyed savants tilted their ouija boards and proclaimed that the Cubs would be league champions.

It was a triumph of the wistful over the base reality. The Cubs again are reliving precedent.

Highlights from club records and nostalgia strike repeated blows against optimism. The last time, for example, the Cubs won a pennant was in 1945, when they were 4-F champions. The following season they dropped to third. Then they did something almost beyond belief. They finished in the second division 20 straight seasons. The first 19 seasons were only a prolonged drum roll for the climactic 20th: In 1966 they beat out the Mets for last place, the first time in the Mets' five-year history they had popped their heads out of the cellar.

Other noteworthy marks established by the Cubs are: Most times caught stealing bases, 149, in 1924, a major-league record; fewest complete games in a season by club pitchers, 27 in 1958, an N.L. record; fewest hits by two clubs in a game, 1, when Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles pitched a perfect game against Cubs in 1965. Sometimes, even the Cubs need help in breaking records of futility.

But there are periods of madness not entered in record books. For instance, in 1960 Lou Boudreau, the Cubs' radio color commentator, traded places with manager Charlie Grimm. In 1961, owner Phil Wrigley suffered a brain storm and dumped the managerial system of rotating coaches scheme, using such people as Avitus Bernard Himsl and Golden Desmond Holt to run the club.

Then there are the players who have contributed to the improbable dream. Shortstop Lennie Merullo made four errors in one inning in 1942. Light years ago, the Cubs had a famous double-play combination of Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance, but in the late '40s and early '50s the Cubs brought along a shortstop, Roy Smalley, who inspired other double-play combinations. They went: Emil Verban-to-Smalley-to the grandstands; Bob Ramazzotti-to-Smalley-to the grandstands; Wayne Terwilliger-to-Smalley-to the grandstands; Gene Mauch-to-Smalley-to the grandstands. There were more, too.

Andy Pafko, a star Cub of those glory years, is legendary. Once he came to bat in the ninth inning with the score tied and the bases, mysteriously, loaded. A young, wild pitcher plunked Pafko in the ribs with an errant fast ball. The Cubs won. As Pafko walked toward first base, he had words with the downhearted pitcher. Then Pafko stalked toward the mound. Using pure Cub logic, he reasoned that the pitcher had hit him on purpose.

Another time, also with the bases loaded, Pafko thought he caught a fly ball against the vines on the Wrigley Field wall. The umpire signaled he had trapped it. Pafko raced to the infield, screaming at the

Steel Wage Talks Are Stymied

By DUIG BAILEY
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top negotiators for the United Steelworkers union report that money talks toward a new labor contract in the steel industry are at a standstill with only three weeks before the deadline.

"All we get from the companies are stories about how poverty-stricken they are," President I.W. Abel told the first big caucus of the current bargaining Wednesday.

"We mean business," he said. "I think it would be foolish of the steel industry to doubt that. We closed down copper for 8 1/2 months."

However, Abel told representatives atives of the nation's 450,000 basic steelworkers that it was still too early to tell whether a strike would be necessary.

"I imagine it will go right down to the wire as always with us bickering like the dickens to the last minute," Abel said.

Without saying so, Abel indicated he expected local union presidents to go back and get the rank and file ready for an overwhelming vote in favor of a strike as the Aug. 1 contract expiration nears.

"Frankly, I didn't intend to get into this tonight," Abel told the meeting of the union's 200-man, 11-company advisory committee. "But when the basic industry conference meets next Tuesday we expect a recommendation..."

"I think it is time for you to let the members know that we mean business up here," he said. "If strike we must, strike we will."

Another official got up in the audience and said he wanted to see 95 per cent of the rank and file vote in favor of a strike.

There has never been a strike vote by the steel industry's rank and file, although there have been six steel strikes since World War II. Union bylaws were changed recently to permit a strike vote.

At the union meeting and at a news conference afterwards, Abel dodged questions about specific union proposals on money issues.

The companies have said they will fight any attempt to get a wage and benefits package adding as much as 6 per cent to their labor costs. This was the pattern in the union's can and aluminum negotiations earlier in the year.

The companies say a 6 per cent boost would wipe out two-thirds of the industry's profits and put some companies out of business.

Floods Hit England, Heavy Loss

LONDON (AP) — Flash floods spread havoc through western and central England today. Troops, helicopters and army amphibious vehicles worked to rescue hundreds of people trapped by torrential rains.

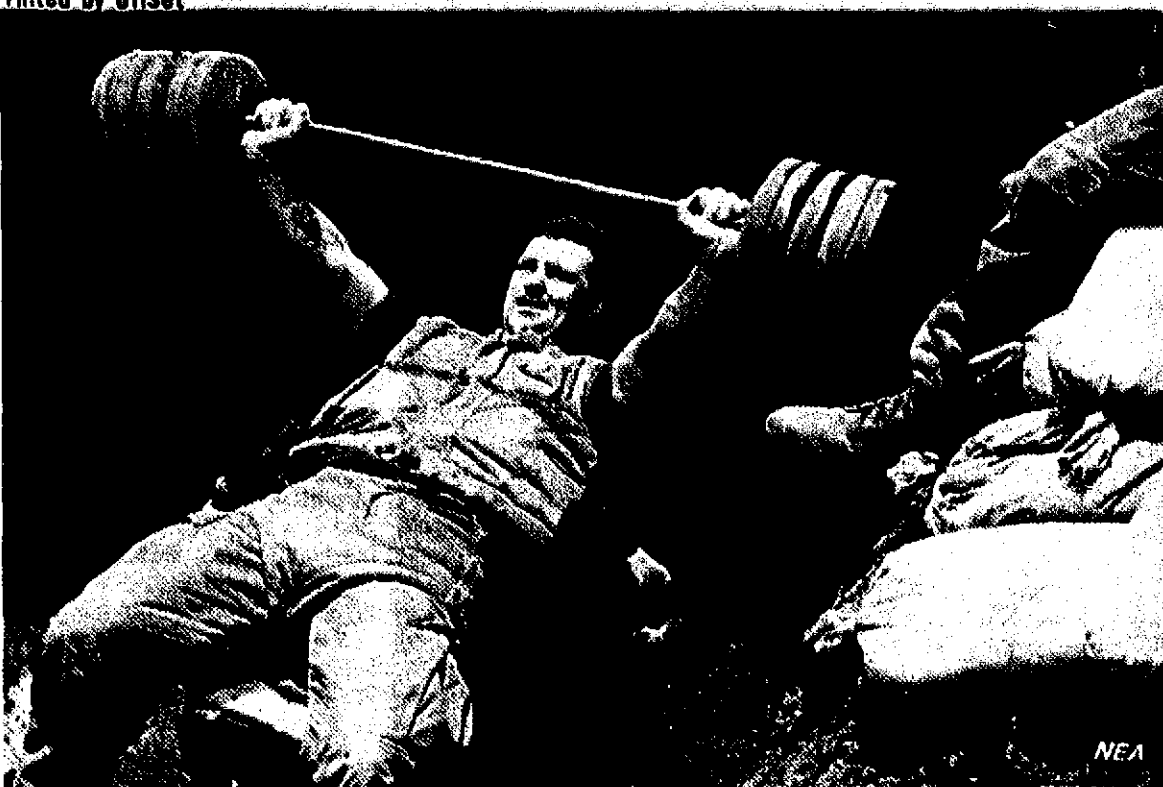

More rain than normally falls in a month fell in a day, swelling rivers over their banks and sending up to six feet of water through low-lying towns. Officials said the storms were the worst in memory.

At least 39 major roads were closed. Trains to Bristol, Liverpool, Manchester and Birmingham were canceled. The West Country was virtually cut off from the rest of England.

Two deaths were reported. An 80-year-old woman drowned in her bed in Devon and a man drowned in a suburb of Bristol. Two others were missing at Keynsham.

The pounding rain eased to a drizzle at dawn in most places, and the sun broke through in parts of the West Country, but more rain was predicted for later.

London escaped major flooding, but scores of motorists abandoned flooded cars Wednesday night and basements in some parts of the city were awash.

KEEPING FIT in Vietnam sometimes requires ingenuity. Marine Lance Cpl. George Griplios does his weight-lifting in a pit using a homemade bar bell. Apparatus consists of a truck axle with spare tank parts for end plates.

Coach Signs 3-Year Contract

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Hawk's Coach Richie Guerin has signed a new three-year contract with the National Basketball Association club, replacing the one-year agreement he had when the team was in St. Louis.

"The Hawks are determined to bring the best in basketball to Atlanta," Executive Vice President Lew Woodruff said Tuesday, "and the best in coaching is Richie Guerin."

Terms of the contract were not announced.

Ousted City Workers Sue for Jobs

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Final arguments were scheduled today in a hearing on a petition that seeks an injunction to order the City of Fort Smith to reinstate 199 city employees to their jobs.

The petition also seeks to have the city recognize Council No. 38 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFL-CIO) as the employees bargaining representative on wages, hours and working conditions.

The city employees went on strike June 19 when 30 Sanitation Department employees walked out on a meeting with administrative personnel.

Testimony in the hearing was completed Wednesday as Sam Sexton Jr. of Fort Smith, attorney for the employees, called eight witnesses to testify. Attorneys for the city, Ben Gore and James A. Glicker, called six witnesses, including City Manager Jack Shelley.

Sexton attempted to establish that the employees were dismissed from their jobs and that they are entitled to reinstatement. He said state laws provide for organized labor to bargain collectively in the state.

The city attorneys contended that all but 30 of the workers left their jobs voluntarily and were not discharged.

Shelley testified that the city has employed 26 new persons. He told the court that it was his opinion that with a little time the city could probably get back to virtually normal operations without rehiring any of the strikers.

Shelley said there have been no emergencies due to the strike.

The city is to open bids at 2 p.m. today on contracting the sanitation services with private haulers. Certain other services in the city already have been contracted with individuals or companies.

Enemy Casualties Fall Off

SAIGON (AP) — Despite massive allied manhunt and record air raids around Saigon, U.S. forces and their allies in the Vietnam war killed fewer enemy troops last week than they had any week for a year and a half, the U.S. Command reported today.

The weekly casualty report reflected a prolonged lull in the ground war which senior U.S. officers blamed on refusal of the enemy to be drawn into combat.

There were 961 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed last week, while U.S. casualties of 198 killed and 1,248 wounded were the second lowest of the year. South Vietnamese casualties also were reduced.

There was no lull in the air war, however, as U.S. fighters reported their second MIG in two days shot down Wednesday over North Vietnam. American pilots also reported destroying or damaging 86 barges and sampans around the North Vietnamese port of Dong Hoi, 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The enemy casualty toll last week was the lowest reported since the week ending Jan. 7, 1967, when the U.S. Command reported 626 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed.

The total of 1,446 Americans killed or wounded was the lowest since the first week of this year, when 184 Americans were killed and 1,132 were wounded, or a total of 1,316. The 198 Americans killed last week were 11 more than the 187 reported the previous week, but the 1,248 wounded last week were far below the 1,928 wounded the week before.

The South Vietnamese government said 213 of its soldiers were killed and 597 were wounded last week, a drop from 273 killed and 856 wounded a week earlier.

The weekly report increased total American casualties reported since Jan. 1, 1961, to 25,752 killed and 160,601 wounded.

U.S. Pair Released by Russians

VIENNA (AP) — Soviet police have released two American students they arrested at the Soviet-Polish border and accused of trying to smuggle old icons and anti-Soviet literature out of the Soviet Union, Stanford University's Austrian affiliate reported today.

A university spokesman said the two young Californians, James Howard Kratzer of Davis and Larry Robert Watson of Northridge, are on their way back to Vienna and are expected to arrive Friday.

The U.S. Embassy advised the university of their release, the spokesman said. Both are students at Stanford's Austrian division.

They were arrested at Brest, on the Soviet-Polish border. Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, said Kratzer obtained the anti-Soviet propaganda from the Chinese Embassy in Moscow and the two got the icons from "loafers and renegades" in Moscow. Export of the latter without permission is prohibited, and the youths could have gotten a prison term of as much as 10 years if found guilty.

In Davis, F.H. Kratzer, father of one of the students, said he had been informed by the U.S. State Department that both youths were in good health after their five-day detainment.

He said, "Both Jim's mother and I are very relieved."

"We can easily see how Jim could have picked up something to read," he said. "He's always doing that wherever he goes, even at the state fair, but it wouldn't have been with the intent of doing anything wrong. That boy's just a constant reader."

DeGaulle Has 'em Guessing

By RODNEY ANGOVE
Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — French political writers and foreign commentators cannot agree whether President Charles de Gaulle kicked Georges Pompidou upstairs or down when he ousted him Wednesday.

What has them guessing is De Gaulle's parting instruction to his premier for the past six years: "I wish... that you hold yourself in readiness to accomplish any mission and take on any mandate which could be given you one day by the nation."

Columnist Marcel Gaby of the Independent Figaro considered this an "official" proclamation that "Pompidou is the man De Gaulle hopes to have succeed him."

Paris Jour's Bernard Lefort similarly asked: "Doesn't the general's letter clearly mean that he considers Pompidou as the most apt to assume his succession?"

Le Parisien's Gerard Bal agreed that "Pompidou is being temporarily set aside to prepare for the day when he will be the successor of Gen. De Gaulle."

The conservative Aurore and the Communist party organ Humanite did not see a straight track into De Gaulle's office for Pompidou.

British commentators, who tend to take a dim view of De Gaulle because of his opposition to Britain, saw Pompidou's forced resignation as another example of De Gaulle's "high handed rule."

The drama of Pompidou's dismissal tended to obscure the appointment Wednesday of his successor, Maurice Couve de Murville, De Gaulle's foreign minister for 10 years and since May 31 his finance minister. He was expected to present his Cabinet list before the weekend.

In his last act as finance minister, Couve imposed $500 million in new taxes on higher income groups, stock companies, automobile owners, passports and alcohol permits to reduce the budget deficit aggravated by the student-labor crisis of May and June.

New Rules Delaying Air Traffic

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One week ago, members of an air traffic controllers group announced they would begin to "follow the book"—procedures that could delay planes on the ground and in the air at major airports across the country.

Today, however, it was not clear just what effect, if any, the plan for stringent enforcement of Federal Aviation Administration rules for controlling airport arrivals and departures was having.

Walter Boucher, air traffic branch chief of the FAA's New York region, said there were delays of from 15 to 30 minutes on the ground and of up to 1½ hours in the air. He said the controllers' campaign was causing a "national problem."

A spokesman for the controllers also said the campaign was causing delays but FAA officials elsewhere in the country said that although there were delays, they were not due to any slowdown.

Martin Hansen, FAA tower chief at Miami's International Airport, said, "So far as we are concerned, there's no such thing here. We have had some delays at Miami, but the delays have not been encountered for any reason other than that there is major construction under way at the airport."

An FAA spokesman in Washington said there were "reportable delays"—those of more than 30 minutes—at National Airport, but said the delays were due to traffic, not to any controller slowdown.

Members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, which claims to represent 90 per cent of the 10,000 controllers in the United States, adopted a resolution at their convention July 5 to strictly enforce the FAA rules about separation time between planes for safety reasons. The controllers said heavy traffic had led to the rules being stretched in some areas.

The resolution said, "We feel the obligation to protect the public against unnecessary air hazards outweighs considerations of inconvenience which might arise if minimum separations are observed."

The group said that if the minimum separations were not maintained, there could be "a sharply rising trend in air disasters."

The amount of separation time is determined by a formula involving a number of factors.

Jack Maher, coordinator for PATCO, said Wednesday there were delays of up to two hours at Kennedy Airport. He said planes scheduled to land at Kennedy were diverted to other airports for refueling because of the traffic backup.

Maher added that the campaign would have a greater effect as more controllers were informed of it.

But officials at Los Angeles and at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport said any delays at these airports were caused by heavy traffic and not by any intentional slowdown.

Clifford D. Slack, FAA assistant chief of the terminal section, air traffic branch, said in Oklahoma City that the controllers did not have authority to order a slowdown, but said they could tie up traffic without doing anything illegal.

"For example," said Slack, "if three miles were set as the minimum distance between planes landing at a facility, a controller could simply require an extra mile as a safety buffer. By this act alone, he could slow down volume at a terminal by 33 per cent and not have done anything wrong."

AP News Digest

WASHINGTON — Delay appears to be the most immediate threat to Senate confirmation of President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations.

Senate backers of tougher gun controls, racing congressional adjournment, may try to bypass the committee that has handed them one defeat after another.

The House gives President Johnson a solid legislative victory by passing a $5.4-billion, three-year housing bill.

The Pentagon spent $216.5 million in six years trying to develop the Navy's F11B fighter plane before ending a program that one admiral called "a kind of nightmare."

Dr. Herbert Ley, new chief of the Food and Drug Administration, is a pipe-smoking physician who promises to follow the policies of his predecessor, Dr. James L. Goddard.

INTERNATIONAL

U. S. forces and their allies killed fewer enemy troops last week than for similar periods in the last year and a half.

The Arab-Israeli deadlock is expected to be a major topic of talks beginning in Stockholm and London.

NATIONAL

Steel union negotiators report that money talks with management are at a standstill with three weeks to go to a strike deadline.

Federal officials stationed around the nation differ on the effect of a campaign by air traffic controllers to "follow the book" on airport procedures.

More than 500 Negro youngsters from New York City slums are spending the summer with white children in Vermont.

The television industry, produced by the presidential riot commission report, is devoting serious attention to the nation's racial problems.

Gun Control Bills Given Setbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of tougher gun controls, racing congressional adjournment, may try to bypass the committee that has handed them one setback after another and take their case straight to the floor.

Even if successful, however, any kind of gun control bill now faces a doubtful future dependent largely on a House of Representatives that seems in no hurry to grapple with the subject.

Advocates of stricter controls suffered two setbacks in the Senate Wednesday and one in the House.

The Senate Judiciary Committee stripped down a measure to provide registration and licensing of firearms and for the fourth time in as many weeks delayed action on a bill to ban mail order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Leaders in the House, which was to have taken up a similar bill on sales of long guns today, postponed floor action until sometime next week, possibly Tuesday.

With the Senate Judiciary tied up the rest of this week and perhaps a good part of next on President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations, gun control backers said they would take their fight directly to the floor.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., whose registration and licensing proposals were emasculated by the committee Wednesday, said he would confer with the Senate leadership on the best way to go around it.

Both Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois generally favor Tydings' proposals. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said he would join Tydings' effort.

An assist could come from outside the Senate.

The Emergency Committee for Gun Control, formed in the wake of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, said it would step up its drive to flood the Congress with mail before the scheduled Aug. 3 adjournment.

"Tonight we have reason to be angry. Tonight we have reason to be outraged," said former astronaut John H. Glenn, committee chairman.

"But tomorrow," he added, "we intend to double and redouble our efforts to flood the Congress with mail. We simply believe that the people can reach their elected representatives in Washington and make them listen."

The Tydings bill would give the states up to two years to adopt firearms licensing and registration laws with the federal government stepping in if they failed to comply.

Mrs. Bailey flew solo in the derby, because "I wanted to prove I could do it, and I did."

The weather gave the women pilots a hard time throughout the race. It caused the deadline to be extended twice and turned the four-day race into a five-day affair.

One woman landed in a pea patch when icing conditions forced her down. Before she could take off, a rainstorm moved in and her plane became stuck in the mud.

200 Million Spent on the F11B

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon spent $216.5 million in six years trying to develop the Navy's F11B fighter plane before ending a program that one admiral called "a kind of nightmare."

The F11B project, an attempt to fashion a carrier plane from the old TFX design, was scrapped officially Wednesday.

The Navy has set out to build a different aircraft.

Abandonment of the troubled F11B amounted to a repudiation of former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's thesis that one basic plane could be made to serve both the Navy and the Air Force.

After all the expenditures and bitter controversy with Congress, the Navy has five F11Bs—none of which has ever flown off a carrier. Six were built but one crashed.

The F11B was envisioned as the Navy's answer to the Soviet bomber threat against U.S. aircraft carriers in the 1970s.

But, under mandate from McNamara to build a plane which could share many of its parts with the Air Force equivalent, the F11A, the Navy encountered one technical problem after another.

Weight was one. Navy leaders also acknowledged the F11B has failed to meet several of the original combat specifications.

The cost of the F11B has soared from McNamara's original estimate of $2.9 million per plane in 1962 to $11 million each.

And, counting in all expenses including research and support, the eight F11Bs which the Pentagon tried to get from a reluctant Congress during fiscal year 1969 would have cost more than $25 million each.

The Senate refused last spring to back the project any longer and only a few days ago the House Armed Services Committee joined in declining to authorize $460 million in F11B money sought under the new defense budget.

Vice Adm. Thomas F. Connally, deputy chief of naval operations, supported the program until McNamara left, but admitted last month "it just really has been a kind of nightmare."

"I think the program was too ambitious," Connally told the House Armed Services Committee. "I think they tried to put too many new things in it."

A Pentagon spokesman said McNamara's successor, Clark M. Clifford, would have preferred continuing a limited F11B program and at the same time having the Navy explore alternatives planes.

New Drug Chief Is Quiet One

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new chief of the Food and Drug Administration is a quiet, pipe-smoking research physician who promises to follow the policies, but not the spectacular style, of his predecessor, Dr. James L. Goddard.

"I'm just not the aggressive, flamboyant type that he was," said Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr.

The new commissioner showed in an interview, however, a frankness that might have rivaled Goddard when he said: "I could not do what that man did in modifying the image of this agency . . . I'm much more deliberate, less impetuous. But I think I am equally committed to the goals of the administration. I have very much the same philosophy about consumer protection."

Goddard, who resigned effective July 1, gave the agency the image of a determined regulator of the drug industry. He often hit the headlines with spectacular statements about such things as marijuana.

Ley said he doesn't expect to avoid controversy. "In this sort of job, you expect to have criticism from all sides."

But he's known mainly as an efficient administrator and considers himself "an administrator first and a physician second."

Sitting in his unpretentious office in Arlington, across the Potomac from Washington, Ley fidgeted with his pipe and peered over his dark horn-rimmed glasses as he talked.

He has red, curly hair; stands six-feet, and keeps his weight at a trim 174 by riding a bike evenings.

At 45, the same age as Goddard, he has come up fast.

From an intense interest in electronics developed as a youngster in Ashland, Ky., he went to Harvard to study physics after starting at Ashland Junior College.

He was a top student, and thinks he would have been sent along with many of his colleagues to Los Alamos, N.M., to help develop the atomic bomb during World War II. But, wanting more human contact, he switched to medicine.

He became a career officer in the Army Medical Corps after the war and also a research specialist. He left the service in 1958 after 11 years with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He then served as a professor and department chairman at George Washington University in Washington, D.C. and at the Harvard School of Public Health.

Goddard, whom he has known for 13 years, persuaded him in 1966 to join the FDA.

From his Army experience, Ley came to believe in the team approach to a task. And as chief of FDA's Bureau of Medicine, according to his colleagues, he created out of disarray an efficient team operation.

He also brought to the agency his extensive contacts in the academic and medical communities. And he plans to make greater use of advisory committees drawn from outside experts.

His main job, as he sees it, will be to continue the agency's vigorous pursuit of protection for the consumer.

Mercury is the hottest of the planets in the solar system.

Powder Puff Winners Due Today

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Anything can happen during a Powder Puff Derby cross country air race, and usually does, that's why it's so exciting, the women pilots assert.

The five top winners who will share $3,000 prize money will be announced today.

The women seemed more concerned Wednesday night with the five-day, 2,500-mile ordeal now concluded than with prizes.

Marilyn Norton, of Cucamonga, Calif., said her plane was disqualified when a storm forced her and her copilot, Virginia Wegener of West Covina, Calif., to spend the night in Monroe, La.

"I cried a lot that night," she said, "but I got over it. The whole thing is such a ball. You don't realize how much effort you put into it."

Claire Walters, of Santa Monica, Calif., who has been flying for 27 years and won the derby in 1961, brought her plane in Wednesday. She is one of five women who have flown the South Pacific solo.

Doris Bailey, of Anaheim, Calif., has been flying only a little more than three years. She says she learns plenty from pros like Claire Walters.

For the first time this year,

Mrs. Bailey flew solo in the derby, because "I wanted to prove I could do it, and I did."

The weather gave the women pilots a hard time throughout the race. It caused the deadline to be extended twice and turned the four-day race into a five-day affair.

One woman landed in a pea patch when icing conditions forced her down. Before she could take off, a rainstorm moved in and her plane became stuck in the mud.

S.E. Asia Plan May Be Revived

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman today sought to revive the three-year-old idea of American support for a Southeast Asian economic development program in which (14). Dick is Office Manager for Anderson Frazier. Kay was graduated from High School this year and will attend Texarkana Junior College this Fall. Bill will be in the 9th grade. The family belongs to First Baptist Church.

North Vietnam would participate if peace can be achieved. Harriman as he began another meeting with North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy recalled that President Johnson had pledged U.S. financing for a development program in a speech at John Hopkins University in April 1965.

"We are going to make a strong plea for peace for the people of Southeast Asia," he said, "analyzing what could be done if the countries of Southeast Asia worked together as the President suggested. . . in a cooperative plan inviting North Vietnam to take part."

But he added that social and economic progress can only be achieved under peaceful conditions. Harriman also said the U.S.

government has "always been very glad to encourage any talks between Hanoi and Saigon that will lead to peace." That was his response to a newsman's question when asked about a new call for direct talks issued here Tuesday by Ambassador But Dlem, South Vietnam's observer for the Paris talks.

"North Vietnam," Harriman said, "must learn to live with its neighbors not in fear but in peace."

The meeting today was the 12th round in the deadlocked Paris discussions of how to de-escalate the war in Vietnam.

Heat is not needed to boil water at high altitudes. At 90,000 feet water boils by itself.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

It has long been a legend that Mt. Ararat, in central eastern Turkey, was the resting place of Noah's ark after the flood subsided, says The World Almanac. Scholars have noted that the Hebrew text of Genesis 8:4 reads that the ark rested "upon the mountains of Ararat," indicating a country or region and not necessarily the 16,946-foot Mt. Ararat.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Food Poisoning at Peak During Warm Weather

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

During the warm weather, bacterial food poisoning, which is a threat year-round, approaches peak prevalence. Much of it is caused by a group of organisms called Salmonella. The worst of these in the group causes typhoid fever. This one has been pretty well brought under control but intensive study has revealed that there are over 1,200 different strains of Salmonella. Infection with most of them is followed by spontaneous recovery within three or four days but occasionally serious complications occur.

These infections enter the body through contaminated food or water and within eight to 48 hours the victim develops fever, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. The foods most commonly incriminated are dried eggs, dried yeast and dried coconut but outbreaks have also been traced to nonfat milk powder, meat products (including smoked fish) and dairy products (including eggs). Salmonella have even been found in drugs derived from animal sources, house dust and street dust. It is carried in the intestinal wastes of man, dogs, cats, turtles, birds, rodents and even insects, especially flies.

As an example of the difficulties of controlling this disease, consider the following: A contaminated chicken was prepared for stewing and thoroughly cooked. Several members of a large family got food poisoning, not from eating the chicken, since thorough cooking destroys the germs, but from eating an egg and potato salad that was prepared on the kitchen table used to prepare the chicken. The fact that the salad was allowed to stand for a couple of hours at room temperature before it was eaten gave the organisms an excellent chance to multiply.

In many cases, a mild infection with Salmonella has gone undiagnosed and untreated because it was thought to be a stomach upset, intestinal flu, summer flu or 24-hour fever. If you want to avoid this disease, you should observe these precautions:

Wash all raw foods.

Wash your hands after handling raw food.

Follow the directions on packages of quick-frozen foods.

Refrigerate leftovers promptly and reheat thoroughly before serving them again.

Income in 1965 and 1968 Necessary to Equal 1949 Purchasing Power

Soaring prices and taxes have reduced the value of the dollar so that in order to maintain the same purchasing power, a man who earned $5,000 to $10,000 in 1949 would now have to earn more than 50% again as much, according to the National Consumer Finance Association. Since 1949, prices have increased by 44%; social security tax has increased from 1% on a maximum of $3,000 ($30) to 4.4% on a maximum of $7,800 ($343.20); and the new income tax surcharge will draw off still more of the wage earner's income.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 849

An Ordinance To Vacate A Certain Alley In The City Of Hope, Arkansas, And For Other Purposes Be It Ordained By The Board Of Directors Of The City Of Hope, Arkansas:

WHEREAS a petition has been duly filed with the Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas, asking said Board to vacate and abandon all that portion of an alley located in Block B of Holcomb Addition to the City of Hope, Arkansas, and described as follows: An alley running east and west from Tennessee Street over to Hilltop Drive, and the alley running north and south between the rear of Lots 39-52 in said Block B, Holcomb Survey to the City of Hope, Hempstead County, Arkansas;

WHEREAS, after due notices as required by law, the Board of Directors has at the time and place mentioned in the notice heard all persons desiring to be heard on the question (all of the landowners in the area affected having previously signed the petition to close said alleyways), and has ascertained at the area or portion thereof hereinabove described has then dedicated to public use as an alley herein described; Has not been actually used by the public generally for a period of at least five years subsequent to the filing of the plat, and in fact has never been used by the public; That all of the owners of the property abutting upon the portion of the alley to be vacated have filed with the Board of Directors their written consent to such abandonment; That the matter has been approved by the City Planning Board; and that the public interest and welfare will not be adversely affected by the abandonment of such alley.

Now, Therefore, Be It Ordained By The Board Of Directors Of The City Of Hope, Arkansas:

Section (1) The City of Hope, Arkansas hereby releases, vacates and abandons all of its rights together with the right of the public generally in and to the alley designated as follows:

The alley running east and west between Tennessee Street and Hilltop Drive and located in Block B, Holcomb's Addition to the City of Hope, Arkansas, and the alleyway running north and south between the rear of Lots 39-52 in Block B, Holcomb's Addition to the City of Hope, Arkansas, as shown on the plat recorded in the Recorder's Office in and for Hempstead County, Arkansas.

Section (2) A copy of this ordinance, duly certified by the City Clerk, shall be filed in the office of the Recorder of Hempstead County, Arkansas, and recorded in the deed record book of said County.

Section (3) This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage inasmuch as the public interest and the welfare of the City of Hope, Arkansas, and of the inhabitants thereof will be served by the adoption of this ordinance, an emergency is, therefore, declared to exist.

Quickie Snacks

Every homemaker should have an "Emergency Entertaining Shelf" so that she can come up with some unusual snacks at the ring of the doorbell. Keep on hand some cans of deviled ham, a few jars of flavored cream cheese spread, and Post Honeycomb sweet crisp corn cereal, and you can make these delicious bite-size snacks in a moment or two. They taste wonderful with soft drinks or cocktails and stay crisp up to an hour.

Quickie Ham Snacks

1 can (2 1/2 oz.) deviled ham
1 1/2 cups sugar and honey sweetened corn cereal

For each snack, spread a small amount of deviled ham between 2 pieces of cereal. Makes 4 to 5 dozen snacks.
Quickie Cheese Snacks. Prepare Quickie Ham Snacks as directed, substituting 1 jar (5 oz.) cream cheese with olives and pimientos or cream cheese with pineapple for the ham and increasing cereal to about 3 cups. Makes about 10 dozen snacks.

Creamy Lime Cheesecake Pie Makes "Simply Elegant" Dessert

Use your fanciest dish or most precious heirloom for this elegant dessert. This pie doesn't need baking. It uses "good as homemade" cheesecake mix which "sets" in the refrigerator. You add fresh lime juice and freshly grated lime rind for that special personal touch. Men especially love this dessert because it is refreshing and creamy yet not too sweet. Juicy limes are in abundance this summer according to the Calavo growers. Two types are available at this time of year: (1) large seedless ones from Florida and (2) smaller limes with seeds, from Mexico. Ask two lime lovers which they prefer and you'll get two answers! One prefers the seedless lime because you don't need to remove seeds. The other prefers the Mexican lime with the seeds because that lime has a zestier flavor.

Creamy Lime Cheesecake Pie

1 package (10 oz.) cheesecake mix 1/4 cup fresh lime juice (2 medium limes)
1 teaspoon fresh grated lime rind 1/2 cup granulated sugar
Lime slices for garnish

Prepare cheesecake crust as directed. Prepare filling as directed, substituting 1 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup lime juice, and 1/4 cup sugar for the 1 1/2 cups milk called for. Fold in 1/2 teaspoon lime rind and food color. Pour filling into crust. Garnish with lime slices. Chill 1 hour. Serves 8.

I've always had a desire to get out of this business and work with children. Somehow, the killing of Sen. Kennedy, I think, has brought that day nearer for me.

This, despite the fact that her acting career is going better than ever. After her series, The Farmer's Daughter, left the air, she set out on a deliberate campaign to change her image and she took many parts to show what she could do. The tactic worked, and today she's recognized as one of our most versatile—as well as beautiful—actresses.

It means something, of course, but to a girl of Inger's sensibilities, it may not be enough. "Many people in show business today," she says, "have some desire like mine to do something more—Bill Cosby, Dick Van Dyke, many of us. Of course there are still many who are preoccupied with themselves. But I think times are changing and more of us have something else on our minds besides thoughts of self."

It was good to see Roger Miller back in action in Las Vegas. He's had his troubles, but he is one of the few authentic creators in pop music.

Tuna Salad Is Rich in Protein

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Despite the heat, all of us need protein as much in summer as we do in winter. But instead of meat, we can eat fish, which is equally valuable as a source of protein. Canned tuna, for example, is not only popular but is comparable in complete protein to lean meat.

So why not enjoy it on a summer day in a salad served in a cool cranberry ring?

TUNA CROWN SALAD

Cranberry Ring:

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
4 cups cranberry juice cocktail, divided
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Sprinkle gelatin over water and 1/2-cup cranberry juice cocktail in saucepan. Stir over low heat until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; add sugar and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice and remaining 3 1/2 cups cranberry juice. Pour into 6-cup ring mold and chill. Unmold onto serving plate; fill center with tuna salad.

Tuna Salad:

3 cans (7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 cups melon balls

Combine ingredients and fill cranberry ring. Serve with curry dressing.

Vacationing Jones

Inflation's Mark

Managing Editor Paul H. Jones and his family took off for vacation in California July 3, and the office is getting postcards on the progress of his trip. The first was from Santa Rosa, N.M., then Flagstaff, Ariz., and Grand Canyon. So by this time he's safely on the West Coast.

Long-time staffers of The Star are getting three weeks' leave instead of two, beginning this year. It's in the same pattern as the five-day week, which the newspaper put into effect more than 10 years ago.

Frankly, the five-day week didn't cost us too much. Every six-day evening newspaper loses money on the Saturday edition—too late for this week's advertising and too early for next week's. So we worked out a schedule to preserve the lame-duck Saturday paper and at the same time afford employees a five-day week.

Half the staff are through Friday night, after preparing Saturday's paper in advance, leaving a hole in the front page and another on the sports page for overnight developments. Then half the staff show up at 7 Saturday morning, and go to press by 9 a.m. It's a plan we've passed on to several local evening dailies in Arkansas and bordering states.

Bruce Bennett, candidate for governor, is an inventive campaigner. Instead of slugging it out on the election issues he dodges issues by floating strange tales as to why the newspapers won't support him.

His latest: The charge that the county election commissions, the Little Rock and Pine Bluff county clerks and sheriffs. Other papers shun him because they are afraid if they supported him Winthrop Rockefeller would put in competing papers against them. This would be nonsense even if it didn't come from Bruce Bennett.

It takes a lot of money to start a new paper nowadays, and of course Gov. Rockefeller is one of the world's richest men—but it also takes a lot of work and many years to build a competing paper to the point where it can maintain itself.

Any man with money knows that. He also knows that one move against a politically opposed newspaper would automatically set all the other papers in the state against him.

Bruce Bennett should attend to the campaign issues and let Rockefeller manage his own money.

During my absence in Florida the office put on my desk the Arkansas Democrat's announcement that effective July 1 its single-copy price was raised from 5 to 10 cents. The 10-cent price was inaugurated in Arkansas several years ago when the Memphis Commercial Appeal's action was followed by the papers in Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, and Hope.

It is the mark of inflation—a declining dollar and drastic increases in production costs everywhere. Your editor in another month will be 69. When I was a boy most papers sold for 2 or 3 cents a copy, and a few sold for a penny. Coming out of the 1929-33 depression, when the papers had to depend heavily on circulation income, most papers went to 5 cents.

But in these inflation days the 5-cent newspaper has gone the way of the 5-cent cigar—both are 10 cents.

Clifford to Take a Look at Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford will go to South Vietnam prior to the Honolulu conference about July 20 between President Johnson and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, Pentagon sources said today.

The sources said Clifford, making his first on-the-spot assessment of the Vietnam war since becoming Pentagon chief, will spend several days in Vietnam and then report his findings to Johnson at Honolulu just before the summit meeting.

Final details of Clifford's trip were decided Wednesday at the weekly White House policy luncheon, it was understood.

Manual on Election Distributed

Attorney General Joe Purcell's Office began distributing Tuesday a manual for election officials that Purcell calls "the most complete publication on election laws ever published in Arkansas."

The 138-page booklet is a compilation of practically all the laws covering the duties of officials in primary, general and special elections.

Purcell's office is also distributing a booklet of instructions for judges and clerks in primary and general elections, which contains about half the material in the election manual. "We believe that these manuals will provide a quick and ready reference for all election judges and clerks," Purcell said. "We hope that they will assist the uniform application of election laws and answer many of the questions that are sure to arise on election day."

Purcell said the two booklets, which took a year to complete, were the first products of a study by his office of the election laws of Arkansas and other states. Purcell plans to present recommendations for changing the Arkansas laws to the 1969 General Assembly.

Purcell promised in his 1966 campaign to seek revisions of the election laws. In the past, confusion over what the law says on the election issues he dodges issues by floating strange tales as to why the newspapers won't support him.

Spock Will Continue Campaign

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock says he will continue his active opposition to the Vietnam war despite a two-year prison sentence and a $5,000 fine for anti-draft activities. "I'm still not convinced I broke any law," Spock said Wednesday after he and three other men were sentenced in U.S. District Court. "There's not a shred of legality in the Vietnam war."

Russia and U.S. to Talk Over Deadlock Between Arabs, Jews

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Arab-Israeli deadlock left after the Middle East war of June 1967, in which the Israelis captured large pieces of Arab territory.

While Ball is in London for two days of talks with Lord Caradon, his British counterpart as a chief delegate to the United Nations, British officials are expected to try to win his backing for their Middle East ideas.

Meanwhile, Jarring is in Geneva for talks with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant before returning to Stockholm this week-end, and Nasser is meeting in Yugoslavia with President Tito, who has put his personal efforts into the quest for a Middle East solution.

At the base of the stalemate is Arab insistence on immediate, unconditional Israeli withdrawal from captured lands, and Israeli refusal to budge without direct

50 Million to Red River Navigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed Red River navigation project in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas was approved Wednesday by the House Public Works Committee.

However, the committee limited monetary authorization at this time to $50 million. The project's cost estimate is $471.2 million.

The Senate passed an omnibus water projects authorization bill earlier this month which included authorization for the entire cost, with some restrictions.

Project Headstart now in its fourth year is under way in Hempstead, Howard, Miller and Sevier counties.

Headstart is a summer program designed to provide educational, emotional, psychological, medical and social assistance to those children who might otherwise be deprived of the opportunity of enjoying these elements of life.

Since a full kindergarten experience is not provided for all of these children, this project sees to it that these youngsters are afforded that experience.

Children born in 1962 have been accepted into the program this year. The majority are from homes where the income is within the poverty bracket.

A total of 638 children is now enrolled in summer Headstart according to Mrs. Edith Brown, director.

It has been estimated that 10-15 per cent of the white youngsters need Headstart, while 85 per cent of the negro population need it.

Adjournment Hopes Slim for Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders have all but given up hope for adjournment of this session of Congress before the national political conventions start in August.

They won't admit it officially but there is increasing talk of a post-convention session starting after Labor Day and continuing until early October.

The original plan, or hope, was to adjourn for keeps by August 3, two days before the Republican convention starts in Miami Beach. The Democratic convention begins in Chicago August 26.

May Strike Long Lines of A.T.&T.

NEW YORK (AP) — A spokesman for the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America (CWA) says its general executive board has been authorized by a membership vote to call a nationwide strike by long-lines employees against the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. at any time.

The spokesman added Wednesday, however, that he still hoped for a contract settlement.

Bargaining sessions are still in progress, with only union local items in dispute.

Members of the union's long lines unit voted nationwide three-to-one for strike authorization, the spokesman said.

The strike threat involves 24,000 long-lines employees of the Bell System.

Reagan to Campaign? It's Denied

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California plans to announce he will actively seek the Republican nomination for president, the Boston Herald Traveler said today in a copyright story. The report was met with a denial by a Reagan aide.

Lyn Nofziger, the governor's communications director, said, "I'll tell you positively it isn't going to happen." He said the story is "completely without foundation."

The newspaper said Reagan would announce his candidacy in a nationwide television broadcast on July 21 and had reserved air time at a cost of $300,000.

Nofziger said the broadcast time had been reserved but the program would be a film of a speech that Reagan had given in Indianapolis earlier. He did not give the subject of the speech.

Reagan, a favorite-son candidate, has previously said he will become a candidate for president the moment his name is placed in nomination at the Republican National Convention in August and not before.

The Herald Traveler story by James Mahoney said Reagan's announcement would be made the day he is heading toward Cincinnati for the National Governor's Conference.

Dramatic Picture: A Schoolroom Inside Tucker State Prison

By PETE YOUNG
Associated Press Writer

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — To educator Harriet Finch, the students are angels with clipped wings.

To the criminal courts of Arkansas, they are rapists, burglars, murderers, and men convicted of other assorted felonies.

But the vibrant mother of five says when she is with her charges, all dressed in prison whites, "I feel as safe here as with any high school class—if not safer."

Mrs. Finch is the superintendent of education at Tucker Prison Farm. In her charge are four regular teachers and 148 inmates, whose ages range from 14 to 69.

"One of the part-time teachers was so afraid the first time here she practically hung onto my dress," she laughs. "Now, she can't believe these boys can do anything wrong."

The security Mrs. Finch enjoys comes, she said, because "these boys really want an education."

"No one is in the program unless they want to be," she said. "I think we dropped only three since the program began in February and one asked to come back and is now applying himself."

The grade levels run from one through eight. Mrs. Finch said the average education grade level was 5.4 when the program began and that those recently retested had risen two to three grade levels.

"The thing that surprised me when I arrived is the lack of education among the young fellows," she said. "When I came here, they told me I would have illiterates, and I thought they would be the older fellows."

The program is not fun and games. Classes are conducted in the prison auditorium, which is divided into four 10-foot by 17-foot cubicles separated only by sheets. There is no air conditioning and classes are conducted in between prison work.

"It is small and it is warm," she said. "You have to see it to appreciate it."

"We feel that anyone in here just to get out of work we can put back," she said. "The majority of the people don't want to get out of work this way."

Mrs. Finch found herself involved in the program when her husband, Jack, came to Arkansas at the request of former Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton.

1st Baptist to Celebrate Centennial

First Baptist Church of Hope will observe its 100th birthday July 26, 27 and 28, the Rev. Gerald W. Trussell, pastor, announced today.

The three-day centennial event gets underway the night of July 26 with a church-wide family picnic at the third district livestock coliseum. The principal speaker will be Dr. John H. McElanahan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pine Bluff, and former pastor of the Hope Church.

On Saturday night, July 27, the 100 years of history of the church will be unfolded with a colorful pageant depicting scenes in ten-year spans in the church sanctuary.

Mrs. Roy Taylor is in charge of the pageant. More than 50 persons are expected to participate in the historic pageant.

On the third day, Sunday, July 28, Dr. Wallace Rogers, retired minister and former pastor of the church, will bring the message for the morning service.

Big Housing Bill Passes the House

By EDMOND LABRETTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has given President Johnson a solid legislative victory by passing, relatively unscathed, a $5.4-billion, three-year housing bill.

It includes his new program of interest subsidies to help an estimated 500,000 low-income families buy homes. Proponents especially urged adoption of this measure on the theory it would help stabilize restless communities by promoting a sense of ownership and good upkeep of property.

Nearly all efforts to cut spending authorizations in the bill were turned back during three days of debate in which 56 amendments were considered.

One opponent, Rep. Charles R. Jones, R-N.C., warned colleagues that long-range commitments in the measure created a potential $50 billion liability for the government over the next 40 years.

Only one major reduction was voted. By 217 to 183 the House reduced the money authorization $100 million by knocking out two controversial programs.

One would have provided interim services, such as street repair, temporary playgrounds and improved trash collection in neighborhoods scheduled for major rehabilitation. The other would have provided public housing projects tenants with counseling in household and child care, and health and jobs.

After passing the bill, 295 to 114, the House moved quickly to send it to conference with the Senate. Traditionally more hospitable to housing programs than the House, that chamber already has passed a substantially similar bill.

Housing Secretary Robert C. Weaver hailed the House action, saying that after the conference "we will have legislation providing the most comprehensive and specific program ever adopted by the Congress to improve the basic living conditions in this country."

The interest subsidy program is aimed especially at helping families in the $3,000-$7,000 income bracket buy houses with mortgages up to $15,000 in most areas, $17,500 in high-cost areas.

The government would help meet payments if they amounted to more than 20 per cent of family income. This help would consist of absorbing some of the interest cost, so that in extreme cases, the family would pay only 1 per cent.

The House voted to limit the program to families with income not more than 30 per cent above the level, varying in each community, that sets a ceiling for occupancy of public housing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most immediate threat to Senate confirmation of President Johnson's Supreme Court nomination appears to be delay, with opponents possessing an arsenal of tactics.

The Senate Judiciary Committee faced the first of these tactics as hearings opened today on the nomination of Abe Fortas to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

Before it could delve into Fortas' qualifications, however, it was confronted with the question of whether a vacancy actually exists on the court. The point was raised by opponents after Johnson accepted Warren's retirement effective with approval of a "qualified successor."

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was called to testify on the question, possibly delaying consideration of Fortas' background until Friday when the committee had hoped to take up the nomination of Homer Thornberry.

Johnson named old friend Thornberry, a judge on the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, to fill the vacancy that would be created by the elevation of Fortas, a Supreme Court justice since 1965.

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — A charge of first-degree murder was filed Wednesday against a 17-year-old girl following the shooting death of her father Tuesday night.

City Atty. Howard Mayes of Paragould filed the charge against Patricia Turner. Officers said her father, Thomas E. Turner, 39, of Paragould was shot with a 12-gauge shotgun as he sat in a truck in front of the family home.

Transplant Mortality Rate Alarms English Physicians

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

LONDON (NEA) — A halt should be called to all heart transplant operations until more is known concerning the risks they entail, in the opinion of many doctors here.

British doctors are alarmed by the high mortality rate among heart transplant patients (16 out of 21 to date) since the first operation was performed in December 1967. Of the five patients still alive, Philip Blair, 58-year-old South African dentist, is the longest survivor, he having received his new heart on January 2, 1968.

The reaction against spare parts surgery here follows the death of Frederick West, Britain's first heart transplant case, who survived the operation by 46 days. West died of lung and kidney infections.

Critics argue that not enough is known concerning the body's rejection of such heart transplants to warrant going ahead with "this procession of deaths," as The Times's medical correspondent calls it.

This pessimism is not shared, however, by all doctors. For example, at The National Heart Hospital, where the West operation was performed, the surgical team responsible for it has announced its determination to go ahead with other heart transplants as the opportunity arises.

Meanwhile, the first steps have been taken to set up a National Tissue Service, where eventually it is hoped to match the tissues of people awaiting organ transplants with those of possible donors.

Britain needs at least three or four successful transplants in order to evaluate its medical techniques in this field, according to Dr. James Mowbray, the immunologist who worked on the West case.

"When we have a few groups of Blalbergs, we can stop for a while and have discussions with other teams about the best treatment that has emerged," says Dr. Mowbray.

"There is no point in stopping now and trying to exchange insufficient information," he adds.

While Britain's heart transplant team pleads for time, its critics are clamoring for an end to all such spare parts experimentation until more research is done in the laboratory. If the medical profession is not prepared to act, then Parliament should step in, according to the medical correspondent of The Times.

"There can be no justification for an operation that carries such a devastatingly high mortality rate, and the performance of which is more or

No Coin for Uncle Sam

The history of the United States is literally spangled with abstract symbols of our struggle for independence, but few have remained in obscurity as long as the rugged countenance of Uncle Sam. He has been in almost total exile since James M. Flagg used him on the now famous recruiting poster of 1917.

Uncle Sam began as the caricature of a living person — Sam Wilson of Troy, N.Y. He was born Sept. 13, 1766, and served his country both as a drummer boy with the Revolutionary Minutemen and as a courier for the Continental Army. During the War of 1812, Wilson was employed as a meat inspector for the Army, and it is said that his insistence on quality food for the soldiers contributed greatly to winning the war.

Sam was well-known for his piety and patriotism, and by an Act of Congress on Sept. 15, 1891, the Uncle Sam caricature of Samuel Wilson was chosen to personify the government and people of the United States of America.

In a national survey held three years ago, 68 per cent of the people interviewed had a specific choice as to what the symbol of the United States should be. The following is the result of that survey:

Thirty-one per cent chose the American Eagle as our national symbol, putting it in first place by slightly less than half of those interviewed.

Our national colors came in second with 19 per cent.

The Liberty Bell claimed third place with only 10 per cent.

In a dead heat, the Statue of Liberty found itself sharing fourth place with, of all things, the dollar sign. Each circle. It follows on the heels of "Eurotransplant," a tissue-registration service set up in Leiden, Holland. Although only a few weeks old, "Eurotransplant" already has 250 potential organ recipients registered, the use of a computer and the co-operation of about twenty hospitals.

Eventually it is hoped that a system will be devised whereby people can assign their tissues while they are alive, the tissues being typed and the potential donors being issued with cards giving the pertinent data.

received 3 per cent.

Favored by only 2 per cent of the total survey, Uncle Sam had to be satisfied with fifth and last place.

The significantly unpopular vote for the bewhiskered gentleman reflected a similar unpopularity with designers and engravers of our currency. All of the devices or symbols in first to fourth place have appeared at least once on a coin or piece of paper currency but our Uncle Sam has not.

Demise of this patriotic symbol is due, in part, to the humiliation suffered at the hands of Thomas Nast, the famous political cartoonist and in part to Dan Rice, a clown with the Ringling Brothers Circus. Since their day this famous character in American history has not been allowed to personify anything but the ridiculous.

less equivalent to a death sentence," this expert claims.

Even the British Medical Journal appears unexpectedly cool towards heart transplant operations. "With the techniques available at present a complete restoration to normal life cannot be expected," this organ of the British medical profession points out.

Dr. Abraham Marcus, a noted medical authority, agrees that heart transplantation is palliative surgery at best. "It can promise the patient no more than a very short extension of life in a carefully controlled environment," says Dr. Marcus.

The major risk involved in such operations is that the body will reject the heart as "alien" tissue, the soldier cells or antibodies destroying any foreign invaders whether they be germs or organs.

To counteract this rejection, heart transplant patients are heavily dosed with cortisone-type drugs known as "immuno-suppressives." These drugs, in turn, constitute the second major risk, for they reduce the body's resistance to infection. Thus infection of the lung and kidneys were the cause of Frederick West's death, his new heart, meanwhile, functioning normally until the very end.

The absence of knowledge concerning the body's rejection of graft organs is the main reason why British doctors are opposed to further operations at this stage.

Meanwhile, the setting up of a National Tissue Service is widely welcomed in medi-

SELECT THE RIGHT FILLERS FOR HOLES

By MR. FIX

For repairing cracks and holes in wooden items there are a number of materials available. Not any one type, however, will do for all patching situations. Picking the right one and applying it properly is the only way of being certain of good results.

Nail holes, cracks and such can be filled with a ready-mixed plastic or putty substance. There also are compounds in dry powder form which are mixed with a liquid before using.

Cabinet makers have a system for making wood filler which is excellent when you are working on a project and the material is available or if you have some of the same wood around.

All that is required is some fine sawdust from the same wood and a good wood glue. Mix these to form a putty and you have a wood filler that is the same color as the original and which will not shrink.

Plastic compounds are quite common. They consist of wood powder and an adhesive mixed together. They come in can or tube, dry quickly and result in a dense, tough compound. Experimentation with brands will tell you which dries smoothest—some are fairly coarse.

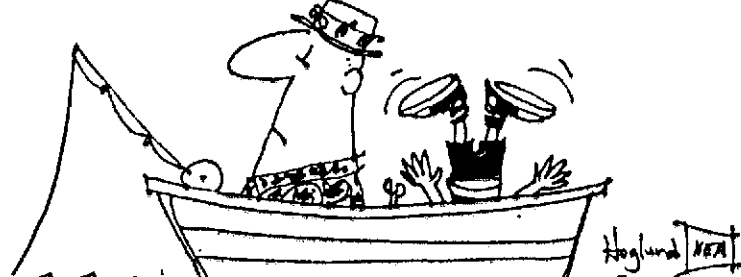

The neutral or so-called natural wood color is used when the surface will be painted over. When a clear finish is used another problem arises. Wood plastic compounds will not take stain. If the wood surface has no finish, do your staining before making the repairs.

Then buy a wood filler that

THE RIGHT FILLERS AND CRACKS IN WOOD

Many materials are available for repairing holes in wood.

is the same color. Manufacturers provide a variety of tinted patching materials. Tinting colors can sometimes be used to color a neutral filler before applying.

Ordinary linseed oil putty is often used as a wood filler. It handles easily, is easy to smooth and because of this can be smoothed out thinly over a surface. Since linseed oil putty doesn't get very hard, however, it does not have the strength of the wood plastics and it cannot be used for building up corners or edges. It is best for tiny cracks and nail holes.

Linseed oil putty can be used outdoors where expansion and contraction are often problems.

You can paint over putty but it will not absorb a stain. Putty can be tinted in advance with oil colors to a shade that is close to that of the wood.

Do not apply putty to raw wood. It will stick better to wood that has been primed. Use paint, linseed oil or a sealer.

If you have a quantity of patching to do, try the dry powder compounds which are cheaper than the ready-mixed. Unlike the ready-mix stuff, the dry powder will keep indefinitely. Once mixed with water, however, it hardens quickly.

One quality this has over the ready-mix is that it can be applied in thin layers. You can feather an edge and do a neater, smoother job.

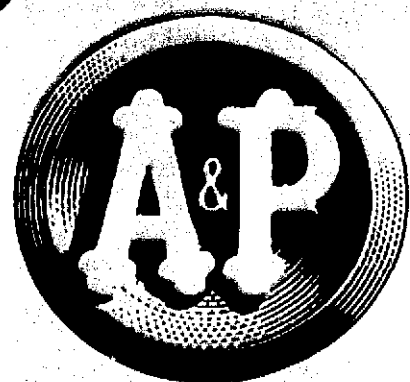

Since this cannot be tinted once it is hard, the powder must be tinted by adding colors which are also available in powder form.

FRANK TALK ABOUT "FRANKS"

Call them Wieners or Hot Dogs if you like...but whatever you call them, there is something you should know about Frankfurters. ALL FRANKFURTERS ARE NOT ALIKE. Check the ingredients statement on the package... you'll see what we mean.

The best are All Meat or All Beef like A&P's Super-Right Frankfurters. The best never contain cereal or dry skim milk extenders. When you're buying Franks, check the package. If it doesn't say "All Meat" or "All Beef," chances are they contain extenders or fillers.

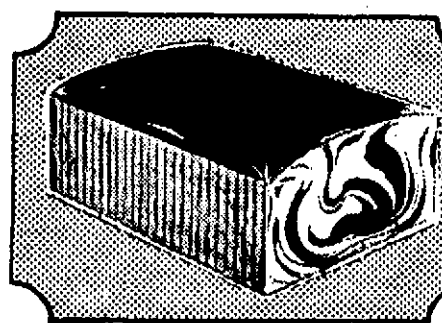

If you're planning a picnic, a cookout or a quick meal... if you don't want to gamble on quality, think of Super-Right All Meat or All Beef Frankfurters. Frankly speaking, they're your best value.

While you're at it, think about these natural go-togethers: Jane Parker Sliced Frankfurter Rolls, Ann Page Beans and Ann Page Mustard. Frankly speaking, they're your best values, too!

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE PROBLEM

Dear Helen: I have taken your readers' advice about not going steady, and I'm for it. But now I have a problem. I want to go out with my best buddy's girlfriend. They aren't going steady and each says the other is free to date, but I feel the guilt of my conscience, and I sense my friend's sharp teeth in my neck.

The girl seems eager. How do I tactfully get a date with her, and how do I stay friends with the guy—if I do?

—FIELDER
Dear Fielder: You don't! Not if you'd keep the friendship of your best buddy. Is the girl worth a break-up?—H

Dear Helen: I just finished looking at the movie listings in the paper and I'm disgusted. It's just pure junk! Only not very pure. Things like "Teen-age Mother," "The Sex Chasers," "The Bedroom Games," "The Sex Gang" are just a mild sampling.

Doesn't anybody care any more about what we kids see? The sign says "For Adults Only," but an "adult" is anyone who can pay to get in.

Why can't they make good movies (and I don't mean corny kiddie stuff) more often? —EIGHTH GRADER

Dear E.G.: I wish they would! Producers have a silly "modern" idea that only sex and violence sells. They should remember "The Sound of Music!" —H

Dear Helen: A note to thank the thousands of people who sent cards and letters to Butch Cunningham, the 18-year-old sufferer from Muscular Dystrophy in Paris, Arkansas. They have brought much happiness to a boy who lives in a wheel chair. Butch has been tremendously cheered by people in all walks of life, and all ages. So much is written about the "bums" that we begin to wonder where the decent people are. We here in Paris have found out!

He lost a brother to the same affliction several years ago. —MARCIA CUNNINGHAM

Dear Helen: I am somewhat confused about the purpose of the Virgin Pin the girls wear today. In the beginning I thought that only girls who were virgins wore them, but now I even see them on married women. A good friend is pregnant and she wears a Virgin Pin on her coat.

Maybe I'm old fashioned, or am I wrong about the pin?—J. O.F.

Dear J: I hate to admit ignorance, but I've never heard of a Virgin Pin. Help, anybody! —H

Dear Helen: My parents hate each other's guts. They fight constantly. Some days I feel as though I'm going to have a nervous breakdown. I get along fabulously with my mother, and just as well with my father—when they're apart. But when they're together, it's like living in Hell. They involve us kids in their fights and we don't feel like taking sides, for we can see they're both wrong—they just weren't made to live together. But they won't divorce.

What can we do to make them see we can't take it much longer? —GOING OUT OF MY HEAD

Dear GOOMH: If you get along fabulously with both your parents—when they're apart—then insist to both that they must consult a marriage counselor—for their children's sakes. Perhaps they don't realize what they are doing to you. —H
